Pearson Backs Peacekeeping Standby Force

OTTAWA (CP)—United Nations members must advance with "all deliberate speed" toward closer co-ordination of standby forces for UN peacekeeping operations, Prime Minister Pearson said today.

He was opening the 23-nation conference here on the exchange of technical information involved in UN peacekeeping service.

Most of the delegates to the week-long meeting are military experts and there was a close of uniform in the Conference room of the West Block of the Parliament buildings where the conference opened.

Mr. Pearson, who won the Nobel peace prize for the 1956 UN operation in Egypt, said the purpose of the meeting is to enable countries participating to put themselves in a better position to respond to possible future demands for action under the blue flag of the United Nations.

He stressed that no government commits itself to respond to such possible future demands by the UN by the mere fact of its participation in the meeting.

But a government which does so respond will have bene-

U.K. Parliamentary Session Opens Tuesday Under Cloud

LONDON (CP)—The Labor government will outline Tuesday its legislative proposals. They could make the new Parliament session the most explosive in this century and possibly force a general election long before it is due.

Every indication is that the government proposes to fulfill its election program — or go down in the attempt.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson has only a five-vote overall margin in the 630-member House. If he does not curtail his more contentious proposals,

Stiff Bargaining Foreseen On RCMP Policing Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—Representatives from eight provinces and the RCMP met here today to discuss the terms of a new contract for the force to act as provincial police in the provinces.

Advance notice was served that there could be some tough bargaining ahead in the three days of meetings.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia said before leaving Vancouver for the conference that he planned to enter "a profound protest" about a proposed increase in the bill for RCMP service.

He said the federal government plans to charge B.C. another $2,000,000 a year for the service, bringing the bill to just more than $4,000,000.

Mr. Bonner said the province would receive essentially the same service for the increased cost.

A number of provincial proposals for service extension by the RCMP, which acts as provincial police in all provinces except Ontario and Quebec, also are to be heard at the meeting. Justice Minister Favreau represents the federal government at the meeting. Attending besides Mr. Bonner are Premier Manning of Alberta, also Attorney-General, D. V. Heald, Saskatchewan attorney-general, Stewart E. McLean, Manitoba attorney-general, Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick, also attorney-general, R. A. Donohue, Nova Scotia attorney-general, M. A. Farmer, Prince Edward Island attorney-general, and Leslie Curtis, Newfoundland's attorney-general.

U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board Fixes Blame For May Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—A passenger deeply in debt and insured for $105,000 pumped bullets into the two pilots of an airliner during a flight last May, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board said today. The plane crashed into the Los Angeles hills, killing 44 persons.

As the Pacific Air Lines plane was going down, a high-pitched voice cried into its radio system:

"Skipper's shot. We're ben shot (I was) 'in it' help."

The somewhat garbled message, recorded on tape and made public earlier, was the last word from the plane before it crashed and exploded.

In reporting today on its investigation of the tragedy, the C.A.B. said that its crash experts, working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, have concluded that the plane crash was "the shooting of the captain and the first officer by a passenger."

Francisco Paul Gonzalez, 27, a native of the Philippines who was working for a San Francisco department store, along with his 40 fellow passengers and three crew members, he died in the crash near San Ramon, only 21 miles from the Oakland airport. The plane was bound from Reno Nev., to San Francisco.

Hungarian Wheat Purchase Announced Today By Board

WINNIPEG (CP)—Hungary has made a 3,700,000-bushel wheat purchase from Canada worth $7,400,000, the Canadian wheat board announced today.

It is the first wheat purchase by Hungary since 1955 when it took a small quantity.

The Communist government agreed to take 3,325,000 bushels altogether under a three-year trade agreement signed June 11. This is the first order under the arrangement.

Hungary will pay 10 per cent down at the time of shipment with the remainder in three equal installments two, 2½ and three years later.

These are standard credit terms that Canada accords other Communist buyers and are governed by the federal Export Credits Insurance Act.

The wheat board announcement said Hungary "has the right to divert the wheat to any other Eastern European socialist country."

Viet Cong Attack Will Come Again

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. military sources said today a disastrous Communist attack on the key U.S. installation at Bien Hoa could be repeated at a dozen or more bases in South Viet Nam.

What's surprising is that the Viet Cong did not strike sooner, an American major at them. I am sure they will do Bien Hoa said "When it suits it again."

The Viet Cong plastered the air base 18 miles northeast of Saigon with 100 mortar shells just after midnight Saturday, killing four Americans and wounding 36. A fifth American was killed a few hours later in another mortar attack about five miles north of Bien Hoa.

Some predicted that the Binh Tan Son Nhut airbase in Saigon might be the next target of the Viet Cong.

39 Die Sunday In Train Crash

BERLIN (AP)—Two trains collided Sunday night in East Germany, killing 39 persons and injuring more than 100 others.

The official East German news agency ADN said the accident occurred at Langhagen, 40 miles south of the Baltic port of Rostock. A freight train overtook a stop signal and crashed into the Berlin-Rostock express.

Five cars of the express derailed.

It was East Germany's worst rail crash since May, 1960, when a train disaster in Leipzig killed 59.

Martin Luther King Denies Candidacy

ATLANTA (AP)—Martin Luther King said today a written campaign for him in the United States presidential race has been uncovered. He repudiated it and said it is a Republican maneuver.

The Negro integration leader, who indirectly has endorsed President Johnson called a press conference to disclose what he called a plot to cancel Negro votes, which he said would go heavily for the Democratic ticket.

"This is a cruel and vicious attempt to confuse Negro voters and nullify their votes," King said. "So I would like to take this opportunity to urge every Negro voter to vote for one of the candidates on the ballot. I am not a candidate. Please do not write in my name."

King handed out copies of a facsimile of a document addressed to "all Negro voters." It urged that King's name be written in on the ballot or the voting machine.

Floods Subsidizing In Central Tunisia

TUNIS (AP)—Flood waters subsided generally throughout Tunisia today, but killing at least 28 persons and smashing hundreds of primitive dwellings.

Authorities said it would be several days before the total number of victims is definitely established.

The floods cut off the capital from the north and south for two days.

The capital was still out of contact with a number of interior points, including the holy Moslem city of Kairouan where the highest number of victims was reported.

Actor Peter Sellers Returns To Work

PARIS (AP)—British actor Peter Sellers today faced the movie cameras for the first time since a near-fatal heart attack last April in Hollywood.

Sellers came to the Boulogne-Billancourt Studios to start work in the film, What's New, Pussycat? in which he plays the role of a psychotic Viennese psychiatrist.

Sellers' wife, 21-year-old Scandinavian beauty Britt Ekland, who is in Paris with her husband, remained in their hotel in January.

Sellers, 39, suffered his heart attack shortly after their marriage in Hollywood last spring.

Government Flag Proposition Being Discussed By Groups

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal party leaders held a 40-minute conference today and apparently agreed to consult their followers on undisclosed government proposals about future Communist business in the light of the flag issue.

There's reason for modest optimism in the fact that they agreed to meet again later this week, Richard O'Hagan, special assistant to Prime Minister Pearson, told reporters after the conference.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said he had no comment and, when pressed by reporters for something further, said: "I have nothing to add that I don't say."

New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas said party leaders were given a proposition by the prime minister.

"We are taking a proposition back to our respective groups and we will either reach agreement by telephone or meet again later in the week," Mr. Douglas said.

Credit Union Leader Real Caouette said "we had all kinds of discussion, all nice."

"We are going to have another meeting," he added.

DISCUSSED BUSINESS

Mr. O'Hagan said the discussion was concerned exclusively with Communist business legislation already before the House in relation to the flag committee's report.

"There will be a further meeting later in the week, I expect on Friday."

Mr. O'Hagan said no firm understandings were reached and, when asked whether it was agreed to postpone debate on the flag, added he couldn't go into specific aspects of the discussion.

He indicated that Prime Minister Pearson would be ready to answer questions on the meeting when the House met (2:30 p.m. EST).

He described the talks as "frank, forthright and not unfriendly."

When the party leaders assembled, they appeared to be divided on the best course of action to follow. Mr. Douglas urged a time limit on the flag debate, a maximum of one week. But he also wanted the issue shelved temporarily if no limit could be agreed upon.

Mr. Caouette called for immediate debate on the single-leaf flag design recommended last week by a Commons committee and he also pressed for use of debate-limiting closure to prevent extended discussion of the subject.

Bert Labrec, Social Credit MP for Carleton Place, also urged postponement of the flag debate in favor of work on the legislative program.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker had nothing to say to reporters as he went into the prime minister's office. Mr. Pearson did not see reporters before the meeting.

Substantial Tariff Reductions Said Canada's Geneva Aim

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada is going to seek substantial tariff reductions and trade benefits from the United States at the upcoming round of trade negotiations at Geneva, Trade Minister Sharp disclosed here.

Addressing the Northwest Universities Business Administration Conference Saturday night he said Canada will press the U.S. to cut tariffs a full 50 per cent and eliminate agricultural surcharges on items where the present tariff is five per cent or less.

"Relatively high international tariffs on manufactured products have meant that much of Canada's secondary manufacturing has never had access to large enough outlets to fully exploit the advantages of large-scale production and marketing," the federal minister said.

"A successful outcome of the talks (at Geneva) would go a long way toward removing this traditional obstacle."

He said the basis of Canada's trade policy is to adapt to a dynamic world, to strengthen all sectors of the economy through increased export while continuing to be a hospitable home for foreign investment.

He also told the conference Canada will continue to seek more beneficial trade agreements with Communist countries.

Seaway Closing Dates Announced

OTTAWA (CP)—Planned closing dates along Canada's Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River canals ranging from Nov. 30 to Dec. 15 were announced today by St. Lawrence Seaway Authority.

The Nov. 30 closing date will apply to the south shore canal from Montreal to Lake St. Louis and the Beauharnois, Iroquois, Lachine and Cornwall Canals. The canal on the Canadian side at Sault Ste. Marie is to close Dec. 12 and the Welland Canal between Lakes Ontario and Erie will close Dec. 15.

The announcement notes the closing dates are contingent on weather conditions.

The Welland Canal will close Dec. 15 no matter what the weather to allow a planned construction program to get under way.

AGED, CONTROVERSIAL U.S. POLITICAL RITUAL GOES ON TUESDAY

People Don't Vote For President

WASHINGTON (CP)—More than 70,000,000 American voters will choose between Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater Tuesday for the United States presidency.

But in effect, in a unique, aged and controversial political ritual, they will be voting for 538 men and women who comprise the electoral college.

On Dec. 14, these successful candidates will convene across the country to make the Nov. 3 results official.

The electoral college survives despite persistent plans to alter or abolish it. It is rooted in the ideals of the framers of the U.S. constitution.

These men aimed at a sort of group of elders, aloof from the masses, with sober disposition would choose a chief executive.

The subsequent appearance of political parties is just one factor in the evolution that has changed the original concept.

This is how the electoral college works today.

Democratic, Republican and any minority parties in each of the 50 states present slates of electoral college candidates. They are chosen by various means and, since the early 1800s, have been elected by the people.

MEET IN CAPITALS

The state getting the most popular votes Tuesday will represent the state Dec. 14, even if its margin was a single vote. These successful slates meet in the 50 state capitals Dec. 14.

The size of each state slate is governed strictly by representation in Congress. For example, New York with 43 electoral votes—largest in the U.S.—has the two senators accorded each state, plus 41 members in the House of Representatives.

This year for the first time the District of Columbia, thanks to a constitutional amendment, has its first electoral college representation, fixed at three.

That pushes the total of electors to 538 and the number for a college majority to 270—the number of elector votes needed to produce a presidential winner.

Most states by law require their slate of college electors to support the ticket of the party that nominated them, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi don't. Over the years, there have been numerous cases of electors kicking over the traces of party loyalty.

For example, in 1960, right-wing Democratic Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia got 15 college votes. One Oklahoma Republican spurned Richard Nixon for Byrd. Fourteen Democrats, from unpledged Mississippi and Alabama, rejected John Kennedy.

Thus there are possibilities that the results election day could be reversed by party rebellions among the presidential electors.

MAY NAME UNDERDOG

There is also a possibility of the college naming a president who lacked a majority of popular votes. This has happened three times, the last in 1888. It nearly happened in 1960 in the tightest election in American history. The late president Kennedy got only 118,550 more popular votes than Nixon did. But his margin in the electoral college was 303 to 219. The redistribution of 27,547 votes would have given Nixon Texas and Illinois and a college of electors edge of 270 to 252.

Under the American system, the presidential and vice-presidential candidates in effect run as a team. Their race has no direct relationship with the Senate, House and governorship races held the same day.

Approximately one-third of the 100 Senate seats are filled every two years, the winners gaining three-year terms. On Tuesday, 35 will be elected.

In the 435-seat House of Representatives, all seats are contested every two years.

Governorship terms vary. This year 28 are being contested.

The method of voting is left to state jurisdiction, so polling methods and times vary widely across the country. Varying types of voting machines are used in some states while others continue to use paper ballots that are marked with the traditional "X."

Winter Election Means Emotional Campaign

The chief electoral officer has warned his subordinates across the country to prepare for a general election at the shortest possible notice. Actually, there is nothing new in this. Indeed, the electoral officer would be remiss in his duties if he failed to keep his organization on the alert.

The disturbing feature, however, is that the check on the election organization has come just at the time when there have been out of Ottawa rumors and whispers of a winter election. The electoral officer's actions would seem to give some substance to the Ottawa rumors.

One of the chief and rather amazing features of the present Parliament is the complete failure by the members of the House of Commons to appreciate the mood of the Canadian people. This has applied to the front and back benches of both the major political parties. The calling of a winter election this year, regardless of whom is blamed, would be but another indication of this complete disregard of public opinion by the members of the House.

The people of Canada do not want a winter election. Nor, indeed, do they want a spring election as of now.

Whether our highly paid MPs appreciate it or not, the general public knows that a winter election would be fought on the flag question and on co-operative federalism, both of which are divisive. The latter, indeed, would probably develop into a straight French-English issue and could do much harm to the country.

The flag issue has already created an acute division and can only split the country further as it becomes a highly emotional election issue. Add to these the complete ineptitude of the present Parliament and one has a trio of about the most emotional election issues one could conjure up.

These things have become, and in an election campaign would continue to become a screen obscuring the real issues of the day: adapting the tax system to modern times, coping with a still chronic balance of payments problem, rethinking Canadian foreign policy in a radically altered world; fitting the country's defence role in NATO and NORAD to a changing military situation; defining the functions of welfare in a modern state far more accurately than has yet been done.

An election this winter would be fought in the wrong mood on the wrong issues. Neither the government nor the opposition stands to gain by succumbing to the temptation to force an election in the near future.

Cigarettes Sales Recover But Still Affected By Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although only 10 months have passed since release of the U.S. surgeon-general's report condemning cigarettes as a health hazard and shattering of the best indications are that cigarette sales have yet to recover fully from its impact.

Firm statistics are difficult to come by, but perhaps 100,000,000 cigarettes went unsmoked in the U.S. between January and June of this year.

Before the report, cigarette smoking was burning its way to new heights of popularity. In the last six months of 1963, it was running 6,500,000,000 cigarettes ahead of the same six months of 1962.

But the 1964 story is different. Even with its erratic recovery, cigarette production may end the year down three per cent over-all—its longtime advance cut and, say federal experts, its future uncertain.

CIGARETTE POPULAR

A real winner in the wake of the report has been the small cigar—the cigarillo—and cigars in general. They may finish the year with sales up 30 per cent over 1963.

Meanwhile, there have been these developments: —The U.S. public health service embarked on a long-range education program to discourage smoking.

—The federal trade commission set deadlines for cigarette firms to begin labelling cigarette packages and advertisements with danger signs.

—The tobacco industry promised a court fight against the trade commission ruling.

—The industry vowed to set up its own advertising police bureau in New York and fine violators, but this is still in the organizational phase.

—Congress adjourned without acting on a barrage of bills giving cigarette—controlling powers to federal agencies, and a counter-barrage which would deny agencies those powers.

More than nine months have passed since the surgeon-general promised "no foot-dragging" in the follow-up to the committee's prime finding.

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

The most concrete action has come from the industrial efforts of those who have quit smoking, switched to cigars or pipes, or at least tried.

Dr. Eugene Guthrie, staff director for the surgeon-general's committee, sees cigarette smoking as a transmissible disease—with 60,000,000 cigarette smokers as the carriers—and one-third of high school students taking up the habit. There can be no doubt, Guthrie said, of human susceptibility.

There is, he said, an incubation period in that it takes from 15 to 20 years for average youngsters to become habitual smokers. But by 18 or 19, half of them are smoking regularly.

But even if every teenager in the U.S. quit today, Guthrie said, it will be years before significant changes appear in the death rates. The person who most needs to quit—who has the highest risk of death, is the breadwinner of age 40 to 50.

"We do not lose the pessimistic view that this group cannot be helped," said Guthrie. "There are 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 ex-smokers in the population today. What they have done, others can accomplish."

There were arrests for cigarette sales to minors in Chicago. There were smoking bans at high schools and colleges.

There was a frantic, almost feverish run after the committee report in the U.S. of 14 months of celebrating the validity of medical and statistical evidence.

The verdict, although expected, was electric. The day of the report, evangelist Billy Graham suggested that smoking "clergymen quit the habit, as an example. The Roman Catholic Review of the Baltimore archdiocese urged in an editorial that all Roman Catholic priests refrain from smoking."

Cigarette vending machines were banned in hospitals from Massachusetts to Pennsylvania to Minnesota.

The defence department banned free cigarettes in all military hospitals from Washington to San Francisco. The veterans' administration did likewise in its 118 hospitals and 18 homes for infirm and aged veterans.

OTTAWA REPORT

Harkness Speaks Authoritatively

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
(Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau)

"The reorganization of Canada's defence forces" was the subject of a series of speeches which our former defence minister Douglas Harkness, delivered during a recent tour of Canadian Clubs in western cities.

On his two week circuit, Col. Harkness spoke in Winnipeg twice, in Prince Albert, Moose Jaw, Regina, Medicine Hat, Vancouver, Victoria and Brandon. His audiences enjoyed an "inside defence headquarters" view of the foreign and defence policies of Canada, and the kind of forces we need to implement them.

"Canada's defence policy for the past 15 years has been based on two major objectives," he explained. "First, to maintain peace by helping to prevent the outbreak of a third world war; and second, to prevent Canada, or any other free nation from being dragged by the communist bloc into a world war."

He went on to point out that Canada's smaller nation could best attain these objectives through active participation in a number of the United Nations, NATO and NORAD. The active participation and organization of our defence forces have been and must be geared to out of the world under these international conditions for defence.

NUCLEAR ARMS?

This raised two points which Col. Harkness reviewed in some detail in all his speeches.

"Some Canadians have questioned the value and desirability of the military contribution which we make to NATO, and have demanded that we withdraw our forces," he said. "Others, without acknowledging the value of NATO, seem to think that we should have a free ride. Yet others have a reputation for nuclear weapons and nuclear war. But we can't have any nuclear war in our hands. We have to be able to defend ourselves. I submit that such attitudes are neither responsible nor realistic."

These words echo the nuclear arms crisis within the Diefenbaker cabinet, which led directly to the resignation of Col. Harkness. He insisted — and most Canadians would agree with him — that Canada should not default on international commitments. And he insisted that we should honor our actual or implied commitment to mount nuclear warheads on the appropriate carriers already supplied to our forces.

His second topic was the present proposal to reorganize our armed forces. This, he pointed out, involves two processes which are often confused and spoken of as if they were one and the same thing: unification of command, and integration of the forces.

NOT NUTS OR BOLTS

The government appears to have retreated from complete integration of the forces, which is understandable as it implies that leaders are interchangeable. Col. Harkness pointed out that a leader is not a nut or a bolt, and a leader who won the George Medal, he knows that men in uniform are not uniform. An infantry officer cannot be switched with a pilot just because he said.

Integration of command and defence forces, he said, is the integration of defence forces, but this return to the obsolete doctrine of the supreme commander will bring the minister possibly unbalanced and misleading advice.

Col. Harkness was especially critical of the weakening of our defence posture through excessive and foolish cuts in our forces.

To our men in uniform, Col. Harkness as minister was one of us. He was familiar with the life and problems of our defence forces, and he fought the good fight to protect their interests. He was a man who understood the defence and gave it his best. He remains today as he was then, the most authoritative voice on military matters in our parliament, and this gave him a special significance to his speeches to the Canadian Clubs.

The New Observatory

The announcement that Mount Kobau at the southern end of the Okanagan has been chosen as the site for the new Queen Elizabeth observatory and telescope was not unexpected. After all the choice of this site was logical.

The area had already been selected some years ago as the site for the radio telescope and it is natural that if conditions are suitable for one such instrument, they would be for two.

The observatory when it is operating seven years from now should prove to be a tremendous tourist attraction for the Okanagan. The telescope will be the second largest such instrument in the world but in effectiveness will equal the largest on Mt. Palomar in Southern California.

While it is true that it is located at the southern end of the Okanagan and that area will derive most benefit from the tourists it draws, the remainder of the Okanagan will also benefit. Many tourists drawn to the Valley by the telescope will also explore the remainder of the Okanagan. Many will holiday in other sections and make a one-day visit to the observatory from their base.

Persons interested in the tourist industry in Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon should be very happy indeed that the extreme southern end of the Okanagan met the geographical and climatic requirements for the observatory. Having it just next door is the next best thing to having it on one's own doorstep. Much better indeed than if it had been located in Alberta or some remote section of British Columbia.

Big City States

The key to the American election this year, as in the past, is held in 13 states in which the vote of big cities and their suburbs tends to be decisive. These big cities are in states with 285 electoral votes. Needed to win the presidency are 270 votes.

A candidate who wins all these 13 states is assured of election. A candidate who loses several of these 13 states faces the problem of getting enough electoral votes to win from the remaining 37 states.

All the polls and predictions indicate that Senator Goldwater faced an uphill fight in all of the 13 big-city states. However since the latest polls, there broke the Jenkins case, the Khrushchev disappearance and the Red China nuclear explosion. No one knows now to what extent these developments will affect the voting.

The 13 big-city states are areas in which union organizations are strong, in which government payrolls are big and federal spending is heavy. Welfare rolls are large. They are also states where, as a rule, the Negro population is large and ethnic groups have a tradition of voting Democratic.

These states are all prosperous, with little evidence of voter resentment except on the issue of race.

The 13 states are California, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin. The one which Mr. Goldwater has the best chance of winning is Ohio.

Mr. Goldwater has only days left in which to convince a majority of voters in these states that it is time for a change. In times of prosperity, fear of change and what it could bring tends to override the appeals of a challenger promising a new approach. But rarely have such issues as now are emerging been introduced at the end of a campaign. But even making the best of these unexpected and late issues, Senator Goldwater is conducting what appears to be a forlorn hope in his attempts to unseat President Johnson.

NOT ALL ROBERT RUARKS, HEMINGWAYS

Writers Now Emerge From Africa

QUEBEC (CP)—An average North American might connect "African literature" with the writings of Robert Ruark or Ernest Hemingway.

A deeper penetration comes up with such names as Alan Paton, the South African, or the late Albert Camus, an Algerian.

But the African writers now attracting attention in European literary circles are dark-skinned men whose poems and novels pump with the pulse of the continent's new nationalism.

Almeo Cesaire, deputy for Martinique, and president Leopold Senghor of Senegal both weave the concept of "negritude"—the big literary word there—into their poems.

Cesaire's work is surrealistic and striking. It has been made famous in France by poet Andre Breton, who introduced it to Europe.

Also writing in French, focusing on nationalist themes, but doing so in a highly individualistic way are novelists like Ferdinand Oyono and Mongo Beti, both of the Cameroons, and Camara Laye of Guinea.

Where Oyono's indictment of colonialism in Africa is humorous, Beti's is biting. Laye's work, in politically harsh Guinea, is a moving and beautiful look at African life. His expression of the idea of brotherly love has placed him under a cloud in his own country.

These facts are valuable for members of the United Nations Peace Corps going to West Africa. They spent three weeks here in September, learning about French writing in Africa from, oddly enough, a University of British Columbia professor.

Did the 150 youths, now teaching English in African countries, have any knowledge of modern writing there?

"A perfect blank, of course," says Gerald A. Tounan, who teaches French language and literature at UBC.

Edmonton-born and raised, Prof. Tounan, 43, a trim, six-foot-four, has twice visited West Africa in recent years on Carnegie grants.

He joined UBC in 1953, at a time when the Carnegie foundation has granted the university money for French-Canadian studies. Since then, UBC has developed a library of French-Canadian writing that Prof. Tounan says is "second to none."

FOUND UNION UNLIKELY

Carnegie money is used to promote understanding between nations, and one of his missions to West Africa was to report on the likelihood of French-speaking Senegal and Gambia, an English-speaking silver that runs 300 miles into the heart of the larger country, uniting.

His report had gloomy overtones for Canada: Union wasn't likely because of the difference of French and English mentalities in the new African nations.

While there, Prof. Tounan took time to rend the flourishing African authors and talk with them. President Senghor, the poet, put him up at the guest palace — there were no other guests and the professor had the palace and a chauffeur limousine to himself in Dakar.

There are about 1,500 Peace Corps workers on the continent, where French is vital in more than half the 32 countries, and some have been hampered by lack of knowledge of the language and of the cultures.

The 10 youths who arrived here in September included some who were fluent in French, and others who could barely get along, but Prof. Tounan found them eager, intelligent students.

TAUGHT ENGLISH

In a dry run for their African mission, they taught English to girls in Quebec's French-language classical colleges by day, then took the Tougas course by night.

They evidently impressed the pupils here as much as their professor.

greatest. For one thing in early diabetes elevated sugar levels will show in the blood before enough sugar "spills" through the kidneys and into the urine.

From the pure scientific standpoint, it would be wonderful if these blood tests were used universally.

But from the practical standpoint, the urine test is simple, easy to perform, and inexpensive. It also will detect a substantial number of otherwise unknown cases of diabetes.

It is difficult enough to persuade people to have a urine test, even when during Diabetes Week each year many doctors offer it without charge. If some people won't have the test when it is free, how much less chance would we have of persuading them to pay for the blood tests?

It is estimated that there are many undetected cases of diabetes — there are known ones. So the simple urine test still is advisable.

ANN LANDERS

Pregnant Girl Student Can Return Later

Dear Ann Landers: This time you are really off. I refer to your advice that a pregnant high school girl who marries should be asked to leave school but the expectant father should be permitted to remain and get his diploma. What is the reasoning behind your double standard? Why do you say SHE must leave but HE will be needing all the education he can get. He should not be kicked out—expulsion would hit him at a time when he can least afford it.

Don't you realize in this day and age a girl also needs all the education she can get? Why must a girl who makes a mistake remain ignorant for the rest of her life? Where is your sense of fairness?—C.E.F.

Dear C.E.F.—Who said anything about remaining ignorant for the rest of her life? Are you aware that students can and do drop out of school for reasons of health and return six months, or a year, later, get their diplomas and go on to college? This is what I recommend for pregnant girls.

An expectant teen-ager who would WANT to remain in high school through her pregnancy is a pretty strange duck to begin with. She is thumbing her nose at society and saying, "So what?" The high school administration which permits her to remain in school condones her behavior.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print my letter. You will be doing a vast service to thousands of commissioned salesmen. I work in a large and well-known furniture store. I've spent as long as two hours with a customer showing her every imaginable type of furniture. I advise, counsel, suggest, inform and in general work my heart out. Naturally when I am tied up I can't approach other potential customers—many of whom know what they want and could give me an immediate sale. This what gets my goat: The woman I spent two hours with waits in three days later, goes straight to another salesman and acts as if it's her first time in the store. Because she has seen every stick of furniture in the house she knows what she wants and gives a juicy sale to the guy who happened to be standing there. It's a lousy, help-less feeling.—U.H.S.

Dear U.H.S.: There's something wrong with a salesman who will spend two hours with a potential customer and fail to impress her with the importance of looking for HIM if and when she returns to buy.

Do you have printed cards bearing your name? If not, get some—and tell these potential customers that if they return you would deeply appreciate it if they would ask for you.

God helps those who help themselves.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter who is ten years of age came home in tears last week. The teacher announced that all students who made perfect scores on a test would be given a special treat.

I was stunned to learn that the perfect scores were given to those who did not make perfect scores.

I say this was downright cruel and should not have been permitted. What do you say?—INDIGNANT MOTHER

Dear Indignant: Incentives are effective spurs. But the teacher should not have given the perfect scores party treats in the presence of those who failed to make the grade. Such favoritism triggers understandable hurt and resentment.

Beta Sigma Phi Present Tea Cup To Mrs. T. Burns

A large number of members and several interested guests were present at the Beta Sigma Phi meeting held at the home of Mrs. T. L. Mooney on October 27.

Mrs. Thomas Burns, vice-president for this executive year, was presented with a yellow rose tea cup. Mr. and Mrs. Burns will be leaving shortly to make their home in Vancouver.

A Christmas dance was discussed and it was decided that it will be held on Saturday, December 12. More details to be arranged at a future meeting.

Beta Sigma Phi then voted that a donation be made to the centenary project to be effective at the end of the executive year.

Mrs. John Culos was the speaker at the program that followed. Her subject was Etiquette—introductions and invitations. Pertinent points on introductions were dramatized by the members and guests, and a discussion and question period followed.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. T. L. Mooney, and Mrs. William Di Pasquale, and open faced sandwiches and squares were served with the coffee.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Culos on November 4 at 8:15 p.m.

What Really Killed Marilyn Monroe?

Today, more than two years after her death, Marilyn Monroe's millions of fans all over the world still wonder what drove her to take her own life. ## April in Paris Ball Held In Aid of French Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—The jet set bluebloods, French mayors, Hollywood stars and the ordinary rich danced 'til dawn today at one of America's biggest charity affairs, the 15th annual April-in-Paris ball.

It was neither April nor Paris but planetoids of decorations, dance bands, dignitaries and drinks made the three ballrooms of the Astor Hotel nearly seem that way.

More than 1,500 persons were pressed into three ballrooms for the annual show, a crack at the all-far-charity roulette, wheels and dice games, some freestyle dancing to the discotheque band and a sing-along with Sammy Davis Jr.

Much of the party was arranged in Paris by a committee and shipped over a plane-load at a time.

For instance, Mrs. Alfred Levitt in charge of the decor, loaned several U.S. - bound planes with ferns and palms as well as 12,000 carnations and 6,000 roses from Paris.

Mrs. Levitt, wife of a well-known builder, wore a bright green wig to match her emerald-green dress and the green jewels on her dress.

Other imports for the evening included mayors of French towns, an orchestra, a discotheque singer, fashionists, and three thespians.

Mrs. Harrington Hartford of the supermarket fortune told so to charity. The Maharajah of Baroda danced decoratively with a variety of eager partners while actress Betsy von Furstberg cut a fancy rug as other dancers parted to watch.

Despite the extravagant show, the ball is expected to net a profit of $200,000 once the chips are counted. Much of the money is to be used by the French Hospital of New York and French-American Foundation charities.

Some of it will establish journalism scholarships named for the late Eric Maxwell, the party-giving columnist who founded the ball 13 years ago.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Education Minister Peterson said Tuesday a move to have the government end compulsory Bible reading in schools is likely to be rejected.

In an interview he said he is opposed to deletion of the reading from the Public Schools Act.

The B.C. Civil Liberties Association Monday passed a resolution urging the deletion.

Dancing Bears' Curtain Falls

ISTANBUL (Reuters) — Istanbul's famous dancing bears are expected to disappear from the streets where they have entertained Turkish children and grown-ups alike for centuries.

The municipal assembly has ruled that the bears are a danger to public health. But a decision to shoot them if they remain on the streets depends on a final report from the health authorities.

Police said there now are about 200 bears in Istanbul. Their owners make a good profit for themselves by putting the brown bears through various acts.

Good Art Appreciation Lacking in School?

MONTREAL (CP) — Art in Canadian schools is mostly of pasting Easter bunnies on windows, says Alvin Jarvis, former director of the National Gallery.

Mr. Jarvis, now editor of the magazine Canadian Art, addressed the annual convention of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers.

Calling for the sort of instruction that will give children some appreciation of the works of the master, he said he knows of one three-year-old whose parents introduced him to art books instead of Jack and Jill engravings.

George Pringle First Exams End

By MARGARET MACNEILL
In higher political circles of the world they called it "the week that was." In George Pringle Secondary School it was an extraordinary week too.

To begin with it followed the long Thanksgiving weekend and no one was quite up to his best standard. Then exams began in preparation for the first report card to come out Oct. 30. An exam today, one tomorrow, then more for several days. It was grueling. To top all, we were still expected to tolerate the band.

DISASTER
In the midst of these tragedies disaster struck on the soccer field. Our famed junior boys lost their first game of the season 2-0, to Dr. Knox. They followed this up by losing their next game against Kelowna. But they remained undefeated and last Saturday tied for first place in Junior Boys' Soccer Championship at the Park Oval in Kelowna. They play Kelowna next week to break the tie.

aged to come out ahead lately. They played Rutland Senior boys and George Elbow Senior boys the last two games and won both of them. We have reason to feel proud of our Soccer teams.

The House System got underway at this time. The school is divided into four houses this year and the competition should be keen.

FIRST PROJECTS
Many clubs that had been organized previously carried out their first projects. A sock hop was held, a film shown, and one club sponsored a hot dog sale. Several new clubs may organize this year. They are a bowling club and a riding club. One lucky member of our teaching staff, Mrs. Toner, is now holidaying in Nassau. She left Friday and should return within two weeks. I hope as she leaves in the glorious tropics, she thinks of us poor students wearing ourselves out during reading, writing and "maths."

Prizes Won At Immaculata In Voice Of Women Contest

By SHANNON DENEGRIE
Last Friday Immaculata High played Kelowna at East St. Paul. Last week they played in Penticton where they were beaten 4-1.

In other athletic endeavours, the grass hockey team wrapped up the season with their last game last week against Westfield at the Kelowna Secondary School. They were beaten 7-0, but played really hard against a good team.

Last Saturday the team held a car-wash at Bridge Service to raise funds to pay for equipment. A total of $22 was brought in.

BASKETBALL

Basketball practice began in earnest this week with the junior and senior girls' teams working really hard. The boys haven't begun to practice yet as football season is still on. This year we will be playing a team in the boys' senior A division besides having a B team and a junior team.

The House games have been going very well with students refereeing. The girls are playing volleyball and the boys floor hockey. After a week and a half of games the House standings are as follows: Gold House ahead with five points, Red House second with three points and Blue House last with two points.

B.C. Actors Aid Blind To "Read"

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 200 Vancouver actors are helping 35,000 blind persons across Canada to enjoy books they cannot read themselves.

The Vancouver Recordings for the Blind Society, a volunteer group formed last January, has recorded on tape readings of about 25 books and is aiming for an output of about 60 books a year. The tapes are supplied to blind subscribers through the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Toronto.

Actor Tony Rogers, head of the society, said it got started when a blind friend mentioned that he missed reading books. Mr. Rogers casually mentioned that something could be done, "before I knew what had happened they had sent me five miles of tape and four books to record."

The group grew as other volunteers auditioned. Those rejected for reading assignments often help out as tape operators and editors.

Stamps Hopes Dashed By Lions

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Bryan Columbia, Lions coach, dashed the hopes of Calgary Stampeder fans for a bye into the Western Football Conference playoffs, sending the Lions to a 20-0 victory over the Stampeder.

In two minutes of the second quarter, the Lions broke open the lead game with a pair of fast touchdowns and went on to a 20-0 victory.

In the other weekend contest, not affecting the standings, Saskatchewan Roughriders edged Edmonton Eskimos 20-10 before 19,340 Regina fans.

Both Saskatchewan and BC fans estimated attendance records for the season. The 17,800 persons who watched Saskatchewan play in Taylor Field broke the old mark of 11,150 set last year. In Vancouver, the 29,416 fans broke the total for the year to 290,639, nearly 9,000 more than the old record.

The victory gave BC a one-point edge over the Stampeder, who had defeated the Lions Wednesday to take temporary possession of first place. Lions now have a 14-day rest while Regina and Calgary battle for the chance to meet them in the WFL final.

Quarterback Joe Kapp, under constant pressure from the determined Stampeder defense, got away two key passes in the second quarter that set up the winning touchdowns. The first was a 35-yard effort to Willie Fleming. Bob Swift charged up the middle for yards and the touchdown.

COVERS 63 YARDS
The second was a pass to Mark Burton, who went for a touchdown on a play that covered 63 yards.

The third BC touchdown came when rookie Lou Hudson burst around left end and rumbled for 27 yards.

Peter Kemp, who ended the season in second place in the scoring race behind Larry Robinson of Calgary, collected the other BC points on two field goals set up by pass interceptions and conversions.

Winnipeg led briefly in the second quarter when quarterback Kenny Ploen hit end Noel Dundford with a 37-yard touchdown pass that was converted by Bob Reed. A punt by Kenner Wayne Dennis was conceded as

A single in the third quarter in Regina Saturday, Tommy Joe Coffey of the Eskimos led the last game of the season to advantage by setting a conference record. His single touchdown pass for 30 yards to bring the Lions moved ahead 12-0 at the half. It was 19-0 going into the final 15 minutes.

CATCHES 11 PASSES
His catches also totaled his total for the year to 81, well above the 74 he had in last year by Bobby Taylor of Calgary.

The teams played through a scoreless first quarter before Regina moved ahead 12-0 at the half. It was 19-0 going into the final 15 minutes.

Quarterback Ron Lancaster returned to action for the first time since he was injured Oct. 6 to guide the Roughriders to victory.

Fullback George Reed turned in a three-touchdown performance and Hugh Campbell got the other for the winners. Rex Whitehouse converted two touchdowns to complete the Saskatchewan scoring.

Bill Tobin and quarterback Bill Redell collected the two Edmonton touchdowns while Bill Mitchell kicked a single, field goal and convert.

Saskatchewan plays host to the Stampeder in the first game of the two-game total-point semi-final series next Saturday.

Ti-Cats, Rough Riders Score Easy Weekend Victories

Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders rolled to easy victories during the weekend as the regular Eastern Football Conference season drew to a close.

Second-place Ottawa crushed the cellar-dwelling Toronto Argonauts 36-0 Saturday, and first-place Hamilton dumped Montreal Alouettes 21-14 Sunday. Neither game had any bearing on the standings, which had been decided the previous week-end.

The Alouettes meet the Rough Riders at Ottawa Saturday night.

Panthers Down Kelowna 20-0

VERNON (CP)—Vernon Panthers won their third straight Okanagan Mainline High School Football championship Saturday, knocking Kelowna Cubs 20-0 to clinch first place.

Fullback Grant Kaulback galloped 138 yards and scored a touchdown to spark the powerful Vernon ground attack which netted 232 yards. Other Vernon majors were made by halfback Parthenonchuk on a 34-yard plunge and flanker Brian French on a 15-yard pass-and-run play from quarterback Rick Sogden.

The Vernon Panthers led 7-0 at half time and had a 13-0 edge going into the fourth quarter.

Rockets Take 8 Straight

Who can stop Kamloops Rockets?
The question was pertinent after weekend play in the Okanagan Junior Hockey League.

The Rockets scored four goals in the second period and coasted to a 5-3 win over Kelowna Buckaroos, Saturday in Kamloops.

It was Kamloops' eighth straight win without a loss and left them solidly on top of the league standings.

Meanwhile, Vernon Blades were dumped to the other end of the standings with a 6-0 thumping at the hands of Penticton-Summerland Broncos. Larry Palanio scored three goals and one assist for the third-place Broncos, who were playing at Vernon and goal-tender Ernie Puskarenko blocked 20 shots to pick up his first shutout of the season.

Other goal scorers were Gene Benner, Ken Lawson and Don Karlstrom. It was a rough game in which Vernon received 17 of the 25 penalties. Vernon defenceman Jim Stephen sat out 22 minutes in the penalty box.

Boston Back On Track As Chicago Gets Derailed

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Boston Bruins are back on the winning track, but there's been a derailment in Chicago.

The Bruins tasted victory for the first time this season Sunday night, snapping a nine-game winless streak with a 5-2 triumph over Chicago's slumping Black Hawks.

The loss was Chicago's third straight and dropped them into fifth place in the National Hockey League, two points behind fourth-place New York and four points of the front-runners, Montreal, Toronto and Detroit.

New York ended Montreal's unbeaten string at seven games, dumping the Canadiens 3-1 while Detroit, with Gordie Howe scoring a record-setting goal, defeated Toronto 4-2 to forge the three-way tie for first place.

Montreal walloped the Bruins 6-2 and Toronto defeated Chicago 5-1 in the two games played Saturday night.

Boston skated and checked with determination before a home crowd of 12,015 and stunned Chicago with four unanswered goals before the Hawks replied. Five Bruins shared the scoring.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Johnny Bucica and Ron Schock got the Bruins off to a fast 2-0 lead in the first period. Ex-Hawk Al McDonald, Orlando Koronen and Bobby Letier talked in the final period and the Hawks finally beat Ed Johnston, getting goals from Bobby Hull and John McKenzie.

Camille Henry sparked the Rangers with his second and third goals of the season. Gilles Tremblay had given the Canadiens a brief early lead but Phil Goyette and Henry sent New York ahead with goals within a 36-second span.

The Canadiens, outshot 33-30, ran into back luck and the best goaltending of Marcel Paille Montreal's marksmen hit the post three times before surrendering to their first loss of the season.

Gordie Howe reached another milestone in his career as Detroit Red Wings downed Toronto Maple Leafs. Howe scored his 626th goal, tying the record

Pat Martin, Larry Jeffrey and Bruce MacGregor also talked for the Wings, who grabbed a 2-0 first-period lead and overhauled their unbeaten string to six games.

PIRE 51 SHOTS

The Wings were red hot, pumping 51 shots at Toronto goalie Johnny Bower as they extended their unbeaten string to six games.

Rookie Ron Ellis paced the Leafs Saturday night with two goals and as assist as Toronto dumped the Hawks for the second time in two meetings. Hull got Chicago's lone goal as Terry Sawchuk turned back 34 Hawks shots in the Toronto cage.

Andy Bathgate and Frank Mahovlich, Ellis' linemates, each scored once and Ron Stewart notched the fifth. The flying line posted up a total of 10 scoring points.

Six players registered goals in Montreal's 6-2 win over Boston. Yvan Cournoyer and Jacques Laperriere talked in the first period. Claude Provost and Jean Beliveau scored in the second and Dave Bakula and Ralph Backstrom added further insurance in the last period.

Bucica and Letier scored for Boston but only after the Hawks had taken a 3-0 lead. The goaltending acrobatics of Ed Johnston save the Bruins from a worse defeat.

The Canadiens fired 29 shots at the Hawks but in the first period and ended the night with a total of 37.

Totems And Buckaroos Tie WHL Leaders Have 14 Points

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
A tight race is developing between four clubs in the Western Hockey League—Seattle, Portland, Vancouver and Los Angeles.

Weekend action left Seattle and Portland tied for the league lead with 14 points each. Vancouver and Los Angeles have 10 points each. Victoria and San Francisco follow with six and four points respectively.

Victoria Maple Leafs dropped three games in as many days. Friday they lost 6-3 to Vancouver Canucks. Saturday at home the Maple Leafs were edged 4-3 by Portland Buckaroos. Sunday night at Portland they lost 5-4 when Pat Stapleton scored the winning goal in overtime.

Other action saw Los Angeles Blades beat San Francisco Seals 3-1 Saturday night and Vancouver drop a 5-3 decision to the Totems in Seattle Sunday night.

The league is idle until Wednesday when Vancouver visits Los Angeles.

Defenceman Mike Donaldson scored the winner at Victoria Saturday. Arnie Schmautz with two and Andy Heberton were the other Portland scorers.

Victoria marksmen were Randy Hucul, Larry Keenan and Johnny Slevner.

At Portland Sunday night Stapleton's overtime marker followed goals by Larry Leach, Tommy McVie, Gerry Goyer and Andy Heberton. Lou Janowski collected two Leaf goals.

SOCCER STATISTICS

Penticton and Vernon won their games in the Okanagan Valley Soccer League during the weekend.

Inside left Johnny Mather scored early in the first half at Kamloops to give Vernon the victory.

Playing before a home town crowd Penticton broke a 2-2 tie with a goal late in the second half.

Helmut Geddig scored twice for the winners with Ken Schuster scoring the winner. Marvin Bob and Don Hutton got the Kamloops goals.

Kelowna Teamsters downed the Revelstoke Internationals 5-1, Sunday at City Park Oval, in Okanagan Valley Soccer League action.

George Kamoschniak was Kelowna's big gun pounding in four of their five goals. Joe Uyeysamu got the other Kelowna goal, while John Bastian broke through the tough Kelowna defence to score the lone answer for Internationals.

4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ 6 ♠

Opening lead—ace of spades.
This hand was played in the World Bridge Olympiad in 1961. Par on the deal was for North. South had six clubs and went down one against the opening lead. It is not difficult for West lead of the ace of spades. As usual, points were awarded to each side for both the bidding and the play. East-West were required, if necessary, to defend up to five spades (which could be made), and either North or South was then expected to go on to six clubs.

If West, after taking the ace of spades, followed with a lead of a diamond, the king of hearts, South was then expected to make twelve tricks by taking the ace of diamonds and establishing dummy's diamonds. Being careful to trump high each time he ruffed. This would permit him to discard the 10-9 of hearts on the established diamonds.
However, the chief point of the hand was West's play at trick two. His proper lead after taking the ace of spades was a trump.
This play, from West's viewpoint, was found to defeat the contract regardless of what distribution South might have. The trump lead would have the effect of putting the king from dummy declarer's feet, since he would wind up one entry short of being able to establish the diamonds and cash them.
In fact, against a club lead at trick two South would have to play well to avoid going down two.
West can tell after trick one, especially if East drops the queen on the opening lead, that declarer started with one spade and at most seven clubs.
It is not difficult for West then to declare that South must have at least five red cards and that a trump play is certain to defeat the contract. The defender, if necessary, was not really difficult, though it did turn out North or South was then expected to go on to six clubs.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

You may experience a feeling of restlessness now, a desire to try something "new"—anything to get away from the monotony of routine. But watch your step. Stars from on chance-taking at the moment, so direct those excess energies into constructive channels only.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, some fine indications in your chart preface a possible occupational promotion, monetary gain and/or an interesting avocational opportunity in late December. Do not, however, in a spirit of optimism, go overboard financially between now and then. Some conservatism will be a "must." In fact, any monetary risks taken between now and mid-December could prove disastrous. Best period for fiscal interests during the coming year—December 28th through mid-February, June and late August—late September/November needlessly.

Best cycles for occupational and/or business matters: late January, early February, the last half of April, next September and October. Late January's influences will be especially helpful toward the accomplishments of unusual assignments and could bring increased prestige.
This new year in your life should be an extremely happy one from a personal standpoint. With the exception of brief periods during the current week, in early March and early June, domestic interests should run smoothly, and romance will be governed by exceptionally generous influences in late November, an all-around good period for all Scorpions. In March, July and August, Best period for travel: early February, May, June and August.
A child born on this day will be endowed with great determination and competence in the business world, but could be so overly aggressive as to make enemies needlessly.

Economic Restrictions Curb Canadian Stock Markets

By JOHN BELANGER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Economic restrictions brought lower prices to Canadian stock markets last week.
British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's import restrictions but deeply into export markets of some Canadian companies. Prices were down but volume was higher.

Brunswick Mining and Smelting announced a $117,000,000 industrial complex in New Brunswick. The stock rose to a high of 16 1/2 but closed at 15 1/2 down 1/2. Trading was heavy at 88,111 shares.

Brunswick influenced two stocks that hold substantial interests in the firm—Key Ancon Mines and First Maritimes Mining. The former traded heavily all week and rose to a high of $2.80 while First Maritimes touched a peak of $3.95. Key Ancon closed at $2.63 ahead 40 cents, and the latter at $3.70, down 15 cents.

Higher earnings produced action in several issues. Included were Texaco, Price Brothers, TransCanada Pipe Lines and Monarch fine foods. A proposed stock split and increased dividends gave some impetus to Placer Development, while Steinberg's increased its dividend and rose in a narrow range.

Several issues reached their best levels since the start of the year. They included Greater Winnipeg Gas, Falconbridge, Montreal Locomotive, Canada Malt, Algoma Steel, Canada Iron Mouldries, Jockey Club, Canada Steamship Lines, Frosst A and Riverside Yarns A. Montreal Locomotive traded 53,025 shares and attained a high of 17 1/2. It closed at 17 1/2, up 3 1/2.

Caouette Denounces Separatism Says It Will Limit Quebec Scope

MONTREAL (CP) — Credit-lease leader René Caouette denounced Quebec separatism Saturday as something which would "limit the scope of French Canadians."

"As for myself, I want to feel at home from coast to coast as a French Canadian," he said. "He said Canadian unity would be strengthened if largely English-speaking provinces treated French-speaking minorities in the same way English-speakers are treated. He saw progress in the field, and it is not when success is in sight that we should quit."

The Power Women Have Over Men.

Is it simply the power to say "NO"—as one man claims? Is giving praise the secret of women's power? Or is it solely a matter of sex? Here is a symposium of letters from Digest readers provoked by a previous article which considered "The Power MEN Have Over Women." Don't miss the November issue of Reader's Digest.

U.K. Steel Nationalization Looms As Labor Move

Prime Minister Harold Wilson is likely to stake his majority in the new Parliament on an early bid to push through the nationalization of the British Steel industry, political sources said Sunday.

E. C. Mord, chairman of the Vancouver Red Feather campaign, said Sunday there is a "special" chance the campaign will go over the top for the first time in nine years. A total of $2,110,229 has been collected toward the $3,125,000 goal.

Senator Pierre Salinger (Dem. Calif.) said in Los Angeles he has turned over to the FBI anonymous chain letters which call his mother a Communist. "I have asked the FBI to exert every possible effort to discover the source of these deplorable mailings, which are clearly in violation both of federal law and of decent campaign practices," Salinger said in a statement.

St. Rev. Ralph Dean of Kelowna began work Sunday in London, as executive officer of the worldwide Anglican Communion, succeeding Rt. Rev. Stephen Bayne of New York. Bishop Dean, 51, is on five years' leave from his Canadian diocese of Carleton Place. Bayne, 56, who took on the newly created executive job five years ago, is returning to the United States.

Mrs. Willie Grant Lyons, the 35-year-old wife of a Negro Baptist minister in Jackson, Tenn., gave birth Sunday to quadruplets. The babies range in weight from four pounds three ounces to four pounds 12 ounces. The Lyons have four other children, aged three to 15.

Ho Chang-ming, a Taipei bus driver, has been sentenced to death for killing three pedestrians and injuring 20 while racing through the Formosan capital. Police said Ho, 36, had armed himself with two knives and was heading for the home of his boss, Chang Ching-hui, intending to commit suicide there because a poor efficiency rating kept him from getting a bonus and a pay raise.

U.S. Election Campaign Called "Dirtiest And Dreariest Yet"

NEW YORK (CP) — The United States election campaign now ending is being widely described as the dirtiest and dreariest in recent times.

"The bitterest and most vicious I've ever observed—or for that matter, heard tell of," says Bruce Fekner, chairman of the non-partisan Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

"What kind of madness is upon us?" asks Senator Karl E. Mundt, South Dakota Republican, in condemning "gutter-sniping" by both sides.

Much of the dirt has flown on a semi-underground level, carrying racist or lecherous connotations.

The low point probably came with a case reported Friday by the Wall Street Journal.

It said a "mystery story" was being circulated in book form suggesting that a prominent candidate had "toyed with the affections" of actress Marilyn Monroe and then had her killed by Communist agents under his control when she threatened to tell all.

'YEAR OF SMEAR'

The same journal story, under the headline "The Year of The Smear," reported a number of racial slurs, such as an anonymous handbill distributed in Louisiana reading: "If you want a Negro in the next-door flag, all you have to do is vote Democrat."

All the mud-slinging has not been confined to the gutter. Republican candidate Barry Goldwater has called the Democrats "fascists," and "soft on communism," and President Johnson in turn has called Goldwater a "ranting, raving demagogue."

Protests have come from both sides in the late days of the campaign.

John M. Bailey, the Democratic national chairman, called on Goldwater to put a stop to what he called the flow of "venom and filth" injected

PIERRE SALINGER

Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio in the Canadian government, visited the famed Taj Mahal Sunday and said it was "breathtaking beauty." He and his wife will fly to Pakistan Wednesday after visiting New Delhi.

Mrs. Olga Ivanakaya, co-founder of controversial Soviet author Boris Pasternak, was released last week after serving half of an eight-year jail term for "receiving money" from abroad, usually Russian sources, said in Moscow Sunday.

Mel Tebbett, past president of the Ontario Farmers Union, left Saturday for a one-week speaking tour of Manitoba to obtain support for the union's proposed protest march on Ottawa to demand parity prices for Canadian farm goods.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard got an "F" for failure Sunday from his one-time political mentor for neglecting to cultivate the seeds of French-German friendship planted by his predecessor. Handing out the low grade was ex-chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who said in an interview that he and his fellow countrymen are fed up with shilly-shally Bonn government policies and long for "strong, clear leadership."

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the late U.S. president who died Oct. 20, was buried beside that of her husband Sunday in a simple, ten-minute ceremony. Mrs. Hoover's body was flown to Iowa from Alta Mesa Cemetery at Stanford, Calif., where she was buried after her death in 1944.

Senator Barry Goldwater is conceding five states in his quest for the White House, but he figures the Republican ticket stands a chance in all the rest.

Australia's Michelle Mason became only the second woman ever to surpass six feet in the high jump with a leap of six feet, one-quarter of an inch at an international track meet in Sydney Sunday.

John Fisher, head of Canada's Centennial Commission, was reported in satisfactory condition at Ottawa's General Hospital Sunday after being admitted Friday for tests and observation. Mr. Fisher, 50, was reported suffering a severe fatigue.

President Johnson sought to ease Sunday's political attacks with an address to Congress in which he ordered the jet fighters destroyed in the attack replaced immediately.

Art Linkletter, Ann Rutherford, Rhonda Fleming and Bob Cummings were aboard a jet that had landing gear trouble Saturday over Salt Lake City, but the pilot was finally able to get the landing gear down and the plane landed safely.
